Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Tuesday 22 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mostly cloudy with occasional rain.

This Evening and Tonight:
Some late brightness across eastern counties, but generally a cloudy evening and night with outbreaks of rain, with perhaps the odd heavier burst through the early hours. Mainly light southwesterly winds. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Wednesday:
Mostly cloudy with occasional rain and drizzle. With light winds some coastal fog and low cloud is expected. Drier and perhaps brighter later. Still feeling quite warm and muggy. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Dry, bright start Thursday but occasionally heavy rain spreading southeast. Rather cloudy Friday with further rain at times, the rain clearing overnight to leave Saturday dry with sunny spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.